

WAR ON THE LINE

The Story of the Southern Railway in War-Time

By

BERNARD DARWIN

THE SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY
LONDON
1946

CONTENTS

CHAPTER	PAGE
Introductory	I
I Dunkirk—Part I	7
Part II	23
II Evacuation	32
III Dover	47
IV Enemy Action—(a) In London	55
(b) In the Country	94
V D-Day—Before and After	108
VI Some War-Time Problems	134
VII More War-Time Problems	143
VIII At the Works	156
IX Railway Women	172
X Marshalling Yards: Feltham and Salisbury	182
XI Spare Time Job	190
Index	211
Map of Southern Railway	End of Book

Statistical information will be found at the end of various chapters and on pages 204 to 210.

ILLUSTRATIONS

	PAGE
Dunkirk Evacuation Scenes	17, 18, 19
Shelling across the Channel	20
Evacuation of Children	37
In the Hall at Deepdene... ..	38
Air Raid Damage	71, 72, 89, 90, 91, 92
Pages from " Air Raid Incident Log Book "... ..	90, 91
Building " Mulberry " Parts at Southampton... ..	109
D-day Preparations at the Docks	110
D-day Troops Entraining	127, 128
Tanks for D-day	128
A Southern Railway Fire-Fighting Train	127
Transporting Engines and Coaches by Ferry Steamer	129
Feltham Marshalling Yard	130
Local Defence Volunteers (Home Guard)	147
Defence Precautions	147, 148
War Work at Eastleigh	165
Building Engines at Brighton Works	166
Goods Wagons for Persia	167
Women Railway Workers	167, 168

COLOUR PLATES

	FACING PAGE
Deepdene, S.R. Wartime Headquarters	I
S.R. Steamers as Hospital Ships at Dunkirk	54
Night Work on the " Mulberry " at Southampton Docks	118
Waterloo Station	200