

EUROPEAN TRANSPORT CONFERENCE

CAMBRIDGE 27-29 SEPTEMBER 1999

Proceedings of Seminar B

Transport Planning, Policy and Practice

Volume P 430
ISBN 0-86050-321-6
ISSN 0267-9718

A|E|T P|T|R|C

Organised on behalf of the Association for European Transport
by PTRC Education and Research Services Ltd

CONTENTS

Page

UNDERSTANDING TRAVEL BEHAVIOUR

JAMES N and FEREDAY D, Transport and Travel Research, UK 1
Changing travel behaviour

STEG L, University of Groningen and TERTOOLEN G, Ministry of Transport (AVV), The Netherlands 13
Affective motives for car use

BAUMER D and MULLER G, Research Institute for Urban and Regional Development of North Rhine-Westphalia, Germany 29
Systemhopping – a question of age?

WILKINSON D, The Scottish Office, UK 43
Why people don't drive cars

APPLYING TRAVEL BEHAVIOUR

DUCHENE C, DREIF, France 53
Paris region mobility plan: a strategy for the durable development of the region and the capital

SAMMER G, Universität für Bodenkultur, Austria 61
Attitudes towards transport policy in the light of the results of a long-term city transport policy study

SMITH B, Cambridgeshire County Council, UK 73
Opening up the city centre: closing down the private car

TRANSPORT PLANS – OVERVIEW

HEADICAR P, Oxford Brookes University, UK 75
Mission impossible? The first year of local transport plans

TRANSPORT PLANS – CASE STUDIES

PONTEFRAC T D, Oscar Faber and CLAY T, Department of the Environment, Transport and the Regions, UK 87
School travel plans

HALDEN D, Derek Halden Consultancy, McGUIGAN D, Independent Consultant and WILKINSON D, The Scottish Office, UK 103
Developing an integrated transport culture by changing school travel behaviour

ATKINS S, Southampton City Council and LAST A, MVA, UK 117
A public transport strategy for Southampton

WAUGH J, University of Southampton, UK	129
Back to the bus: Uni-link and a travel revolution for Southampton and its university
CUMMINS P and CRAMPTON G, University of Reading, UK	135
Acute hospitals, parking and green travel plans
BRADLEY J, BROWN N and CASSIDY S, Transport and Travel Research, UK	151
The process of site-based commuter plan development: survey, policies and evaluation
BRADSHAW R, University of Westminster and CAMARA P, Leicester City Council, UK	157
The future of mobility management in the UK
DANIELS I, University of the West of England, UK	169
The employers' role in changing travel choices
TRANSPORT AND SOCIAL INCLUSION
ANDREW C, University of Brighton, FROST M, Birkbeck College and SULLIVAN K, London Transport, UK	181
Transport and social exclusion in London
FLOREZ J, Universidad Simón Bolívar, Venezuela	195
Attracting higher income class to public transport in socially clustered cities: the case of Caracas
GEURS K, National Institute of Public Health and the Environment, The Netherlands and ADAMS J, University College London, UK	211
Economic and social impacts of sustainable transport
POPE T, Joint Mobility Unit, RNIB and BOURNE C, Civic Trust Regeneration Unit, UK	227
Night site: improving accessibility and mobility to town centres in the evening
PUBLIC PARTICIPATION AND TRANSPORT – CASE STUDIES
HANSEN C J, Aalborg University, Denmark	239
The dynamics of local processes towards environmentally sustainable transport – case of Lund, Sweden
MARSH C and JONES P, University of Westminster, UK	253
Implementing sustainable property development
WOOD C, TransPlan and BLANCHER P, Economie et Humainisme	255
The role of citizen groups in urban transport policy in France and Britain

BAKER J, Transport and Travel Research and ERRINGTON T, Birmingham City Council, UK	273
Birmingham City Council “visions” transport strategy market research
PRICING
MONZON A, RODRIGUEZ J, Universidad Politécnica de Madrid and CRISTOBAL C, Consorcio de Transportes de Madrid, Spain	285
Cross site multicriteria evaluation of urban pricing measures in Europe
MILLS J, W S Atkins Planning Consultants and ADAM G, Hampshire County Council, UK	297
Going private? Financing the new local transport
BERVELING J and WELLES H, Ministry of Transport (AVV), The Netherlands	309
Ethics, mobility and the market: a starting point for debate
TRANSPORT ASSESSMENT AND APPRAISAL
FERRARY C, Entec UK Limited, UK	319
New directions in appraisal for local transport plans
HERVIK A, Molde College and ODECK J, Public Roads Administration, Norway	331
Towards an integrated approach to transport planning in Norway – the SAC report on the consistency of benefit-cost analysis between sectors
JONES P and LUCAS K, University of Westminster, UK	345
Developing joined-up policy assessment frameworks
SEAGRIFF E A, London Transport, UK	361
Multi-modal project developments and assessment process in the US – lessons for the UK appraisal framework
ENCOURAGING WALKING AND CYCLING
MACKETT R L, University College London, UK	379
Reducing the number of short trips by car
HIGGITT M, Steer Davies Gleave, UK	391
Prioritising the pedestrian: a framework for the development of a walking strategy
GARDNER G, Transport Research Laboratory, UK	405
Identifying potential cyclists
HOME ZONES: A TRAFFIC CALMING TOOL
JONES P, WSP Development Ltd and CHILDS R, Halcrow Fox, UK	415
Home zones – a step towards Europe

BEURET K, Social Research Associates and BARRELL J, Ross Silcock, UK 427
The community impact of traffic calming schemes

SNELLEN D, Eindhoven University of Technology, The Netherlands 429
The relationship between urban form and activity patterns: multivariate analysis of frequently made trips

1. INTRODUCTION

This paper addresses research measures, conclusions of the OPIUM project, which related CAPTURE projects were presented and discussed in Brussels in January 1998. Project managers of the European Commission

These projects established a common framework of measures to be implemented in common territories, making a significant management

Following the evaluation and discussion and the implementation of the